Purpose Different business schools often utilise different systems for their evaluation of research output. It may cause problems when co-authors on the same paper are from schools where different systems are used. A considerable amount of thought may be needed to choose the appropriate research outlet so that everyone's work can be duly recognised by their respective schools. To facilitate this process, we have compiled this list of journals which allows direct comparison of how different ranking/indexing systems assess the quality of the same journal. We consider journals on The Chartered Association of Business Schools (ABS) Academic Journal Guide, Australian Business Deans Council (ABDC) Journal Quality List, Social Sciences Citation Index (SSCI), Journal Citations Reports (JCR) Journal Impact Factor Quartile Ranking, The University of Texas at Dallas (UTD) 24 journals, and Financial Times (FT) 50 journals.

Method We start from the ABS Academic Journal Guide 2021 and extract all journals. We then merge the table with ABDC Journal Quality List 2022. Journals that are not listed in ABDC Journal Quality List 2022 are marked as a missing value in the ABDC 2022 column. We then identify whether each journal is indexed in SSCI 2023. For those journals indexed in SSCI, we include their JCR Journal Impact Factor Quartile Ranking and their Journal Impact Factor (JIF) 2022.

A Note This is a preliminary document. We aim to continuously update this document and perform thorough manual check to eliminate errors. If you have suggestions or if you find any error, please contact Alex via email.

Acknowledgements We thank faculties from the Business School of University of Auckland, the Faculty of Business and Economics (FBE) of University of Melbourne, and the Business School of University of Wollongong for their insightful comments.
